for Girls

This question is now uppermost in the minds of parents with daughters to educate. Almost every girls' school claims some advantages, but the best school is the one which trains a girl on broad lines, giving her not only a real culture but power to execute what is best for her life

A school of this type is Miss Maso-'s Suburban School for Girls, beautifully located amid healthful surroundings at Tarrytown-on-Hudson. The work of instruction embraces not only college preparative and the usua' academic training, but also higher college courses. Superior advantages are offered in Modern Languages, Music and Art. The various handicrafts, such as cooking, dress-making, millinery and sewing are systematically taught, as are also correct business methods, giving a girl the knowledge necessary to direct a well ordered home and to transact her financial affairs according to correct methods.

TEST OF THE RECOUNT BILL. Appellate Division in This District Issues Writ of Prohibition.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court will hold a special session to-day at 11 o'clock to consider the constitutionality of the recount bill passed by the Legislature for the benefit of William R. Hearst in his fight against George B. McClellan over the result of the Mayoralty election two years

The case will come up on the return to an alternative writ of prohibition granted yesterday by the Appellate Division, on the application of Herman A. Metz, both as Comptroller and a taxpayer, the Board of Elections and George B. McClellan individually. The writ is directed to Charles W. Dayton and the other Justices of the Supreme Court, sitting in the First Department and not designated to serve on the Appellate Division, and prohibits them from taking any further proceedings under the recount bill until the Appellate Division directs otherwise. As an alternative Justice Dayton or any of his associates may show cause before the Appellate Court this morning why the writ should not be set aside.

pocket after glancing at it and went on with the regular business of the court. The writ was also served, by direction of the court, on William R. Hearst and his counsel, C. J. Shearn.

in 1905 and was duly elected. Any pro-ceedings under the Recount bill, he says would involve the foculity of from three hundred to four hundred ballots in every election district and would be a great hardship to him individually and as a taxpayer. He also says that the bill is in contravention of the Constitutions of this State and the United States, and also deprives the courts of jurisdiction over a legal proceeding by practically superseding the regular our warranto proceedings which statement says that the expense of the proceedings under the bill will be enormous. Mr. Metz says that he has had several estimates submitted of the cost for stenographers' fees alone, and the lowest estimate has been $180,000 for six or seven copies of the record. The taxonyars may have the record. The taxpayers may have bear this expense, and he considers such a possibility outrageous, as the tax-payers have already paid dear and in full for the cost of the Mayoralty election. He also attacks the constitutionality of the law, and says that any attempt to carry out its provisions will prove harmful and injurious to the taxpayers, including him to know where this money was kept. While Smith was asleep in the barn in the rear of the Dehm home he was aroused by two men, who bound him to his bed. The men then asked him where Dehm kept his money. Smith said he did not know. Then one of the men held Smith's feet and then one of the men held smith a feet and the other pounded his toes' with the butt end of a revolver and a billy. Smith fainted. When he revived the men again asked about the money and Smith again failed to tell them. Then they pulled out his tongue and jabbed a penkalle through it. At the same time they pounded his toes Smith, however, rersisted in saying he did not ! now where the money was, and this angered his assailants so left him for dead. Since the incident Smith has lost all his toe nails and is now in dange contracting blood poisoning on account of the wound in his tongue.

Pa., Confesses to Several Robbertes. COATESVILLE, Pa., July 15 .- Dr. Benjamin Holbrook, one of the best known physicians checking in here and consequently the in Delaware county, has been held under H. C. Shoemaker, who has been driving his 3:-40 horse-power Shoemaker as a member $2,000 bail on a charge of burglary. Holbrook is the son of a former Philadelphia physician now deceasedof the Cleveland Automobile Club team of lidden contestants, announced his with-Dr. Holbrook is said to have confessed drawal from the contest to-night, as he has broken some springs and has no duplicates fully to Detective Dague of the Pennsylvania Railroad, whose headquarters are at Parkersburg, the crimes charged against He was late in checking in here in consequence

His withdrawal entails a loss of all his individual points and deducts 111 by points from the total score of the Cleveland Automobile Club. He had also lost 26 points last Friday. It is not known whether or not. It. Shoemaker intends to continue with the party as a non-contestant.

R. G. Kelsey of Riverside Drive, Manhattan, and without much doubt the hardest driver of the Long Island Automobile Club of Brooklyn, threw up the sponge to-night so far as further attempts to win the Hower prize is concerned. Through the goodness of his heart he played first aid to the injured when the accidents occurred last Thursday and thereby lost aimost an hour's time, being penalized 16 points for being late. Mr. Kelsey tried to have this penalization removed, but this effort was unsuccessful.

He enters contests and makes or breaks records between New York and Chicago or New York and Beston because he likes to drive his sporty looking Matheson runabout, and so he continued to be a contestant for it perfect score. But the mishap that befell him to-day finished him off and he will retire. When about ten miles west of this city two of the studs on the connecting rod broke and a big hole was punched in the crank case.

Mr. Kelsey said to-night that if he were a The robberies were, of course, committed at night, and always the doctor, it is charged, drove to the scene in his buggy and carried the booty away behind his spanking team of sorrels. In the daytime he was a suave, well bred practitioner, a specialist in eye, nose and throat diseases, the well mannered, sympathetic Dr. Jekyll of local society, and an especial favorite with the families of good standing in the town in which there were marriageable daughters.

One of the things that he said to Detective Dague in the course of his con-fession was that he was engaged to marry ression was that he was engaged to marry two young women, one a very charming Philadelphian, the other living in Coatesvile. He was not sure which of them he would have made his wife if all had gone well. The doctor has been a widower for about four years. He told Detective Dague that the first thought of criminality came to him when, desiring to remarry, he found himself confronted with imminent bankruptov.

Mr. Kelsey said to-night that if he were a manufacturer or were interested financially in the car he is driving that he might turn in and make the repairs needed to enable the car to continue, but instead he will drop out bankruptoy.

A private hearing was given Holbrook Friday night before Justice of the Peace Joseph Johnson at Downingtown and he was held in $2,000 bail for court. He was unable to furnish bail and was committed to the prison in Westchester.

Many robberies are laid at his door.
In April last the station at Wyebrooke, on the Holland branch of the Pennsylvania railroad, was broken into and 4,000-mile mileage books and some jewelry and silver and make the repairs needed to enable the car to continue, but instead he will drop out here.

When M. M. Cole of the New York Motor Club's team arrived at the Hotel Oliver, the checking in point in this city, this afternoon he found that the frame of his 39 horse-power autocar was broken on the right hand side just under the hand levers.

He was very much discouraged, but when Wallace B. Owens told him how he could fix the frame with a block of wood and several vards of stout wire he felt better. It is expected that he will continue as a contestant for the Glidden trophy.

R. L. Lockwood of the same club got into trouble in the awful mud hole at Crocker, and, with his 16 horse-power Reo and was a couple of hours late as his low powered machine could not force itself through the deep ruts.

The Buffalo and Pittsburg Club teams are still tied for the Glidden trophy contest with perfect scores. The Automobile Club of America team has now a total of 501% points charged against it, 250 points being imposed to-day for the withdrawal of the Rainey car. The Automobile Club of Operoit team has a total penalization of 278 points, 250 points being deducted to-day for the withdrawal of R. D. Chapins' Thomas 40, which was announced previously.

The score of the Chicago Automobile Club A few nights afterward the station at Glenmore, on the same line, was entered in like manner by the same person, chiefly in like manner by the same person, chiefly that he might put the agent's stamp on the mileage books, a thing he had neglected at Wyebrooke. He took a silver watch and a razor belonging to the agent and several pairs of new shoes which were in the freight room. Next the station at Buck Run, on the Pomeroy and Newark branch, was robbed and a typewriting machine was stolen. machine was stolen.

Suspicion was first directed to Dr. Hol-brook through his attempting to make use of one of the mileage books, but he escaped detection. Meanwhile other burg-laries were committed within a radius of ten miles of Coatesville. Three of these, in Coatesville, seem to have furnished the clue to the burglar. He took from the electrical supply store of Edward Thomas, on Third avenue, a typewriting machine, a revolver, some valuable electrical tools and a stock of dies. He then entered the office of David Mariner, liveryman and stole a gun and a store watch.

bers of the team made perfect scores to-day. The Cleveland Automobile Club team has lost a total of 255 8-9 points, of which 111 1-9 were deducted because of the withdrawal of R. C. Shoemaker. The New York Motor Club team had a previous total of 13 1-5 lost points and its present total loss is 32 1-5 points. Lockwood lost 212 time points individually. Club team had a previous total of 13 1-5 lost points and its present total loss is 32 1-5 points. Lockwood lost 212 time points individually.

The going to-day was almost as rough in places as the roads over which the trip from Toledo to this city was made last Thursday, as a heavy rain fell during the night and thoroughly soaked all the road surfaces that were not of either macadam or gravel.

The plan of giving to each driver a number designating his place in the procession worked very well and there was not nearly as much speeding as there has been on other days. It turned out to-night that this remedy for racing was suggested by J. D. Maxwell of the Maxwell-Driscoe concern, when he was in Cleveland the day before the tour was started. At that time the idea did not appeal to the touring board chairman, but the many protests by entrants and others against the undue speed caused the plan to be tried to-day with very fair success.

Charles Price, who has been running a Maxwell around his home city of Chicago for some time past with its bonnet sealed up, joined the party to-day as a noncontestant, and will keep on to New York. He still bas, the seals on the bonnet that were put there when the car made a perfect score in the recent reliability test of the Chicago Motor Club.

Before Price turned the car's head toward New York to-day there were some more seals added to the original ones by the Chicago Motor Club's technical committee, Charles P. Root, G. G. Sinsabauch and David Beecroft.
